Joseph R. Biden Jr. becomes President elect of USA and Kamala Harris is first woman elected Vice President

WILMINGTON, Del.: Joseph R. Biden Jr. addressed the nation for the first time as president-elect, delivering a message of unity and trying to soothe the extraordinary divisions that defined the last four years in American politics. "Let this grim era of demonization in America begin to end here and now," he said. Mr. Biden, speaking at the conclusion of his third run for the presidency, said. "I've lost a couple of times myself. But now, let's give each other a chance. It's time to put away the harsh rhetoric, lower the temperature, see each other again, listen to each other again." He added, "This is the time to heal in America." Mr. Biden's optimistic speech, flecked with references to faith and American history, came 48 years to the day after he was first elected a senator from Delaware. He spoke from a flag-bedecked stage outside the Chase Center on the Riverfront, an event center near the Christina River, where he invoked themes that shaped his presidential campaign. Senator Kamala Harris, the vice president-elect, spoke first, telling voters that they had chosen "hope and unity, decency, science and, yes, truth." She invoked her mother, Shyamala Gopalan, who came to the United States from India at the age of 19, and paid tribute to the women "who throughout our nation's history have paved the way for this moment." While I may be the first woman in this office, I will not be the last," she said. "Because every little girl watching tonight sees that this is a country of possibilities."

On Vijayadashami, the traditional Dasara procession (locally known as Jumbo Savari) is held on the streets of Mysore city. The main attraction of this procession is the idol of the Goddess Chamundeshwari which is placed on a golden mantapa (which is around 750 kilograms of gold) on the top of a decorated elephant. This idol is worshipped by the royal couple and other invitees before it is taken around in the procession. Colourful tableaux, dance groups, music bands, decorated elephants, horses and camels form a part of the procession which starts from the Mysore Palace and
